

---

Director of Human Resources Office of the Auditor General of Nova Scotia

Our client, the Office of the Auditor General of Nova Scotia is seeking a Director of Human Resources who, reporting to the Deputy Auditor General, will provide Human Resource Services to the organization. These include ensuring that the day to day Human Resource functions are carried out expeditiously and to act as a trusted advisor to the Office and its staff on HR policy development including competency based performance management and critical recruitment and retention strategies.

As the Ideal Candidate you hold an undergraduate degree preferably with an HR concentration, 5 – 10 years of progressive HR experience and possess a CPHR designation or equivalent. Your superior organizational skills are complimented by strong relationship building abilities. You have an established track record in ensuring the highest level of Human Resource service delivery.

You also have a reputation as an excellent team player who has successfully implemented HR strategies and functions in a fast paced and demanding professional environment. You have a passion for Human Resources and a desire to ensure that every organization you serve becomes an employer of choice.

If this exciting opportunity to join a dynamic organization committed to excellence meets your career aspirations please forward your resume in confidence, by email, to Royer Thompson Associates at admin@royerthompson.com. For further information, please contact Mildred Royer, at 1-902-422-2099.

Royer Thompson is a well-established management and human resource consulting firm specializing in recruitment, career transition, governance and talent management for clients in the private and public sectors.